This Easter Sunday, Alistair McQueen will be hosting a Zombie Jesus Ball at the Blue Moon Bar in Lawrenceville. On this holiest of days ... why?

I'll be proselytizing ... reminding people to ask permission; getting consent; women's rights. You know, preaching the holy bible of Satan.

Expect a numerous amount of zombies taking over the bar, eating brains, massacring the liquor bottles -- chugging them down as if it was the blood of Christ.

Zombie Jesus is being played by a drag queen.

You'll also get a moment here with the Easter Bunny ... our good friend of Zombie Jesus.

Don't forget chocolate! You cannot worship your Lord and savior without chocolate!

Performed by Lydia Dahmer
Performed by Pushing Daisys

“We can have a party every Sunday. This is our church. This is the church for a lot of gay people. In fact, I know a lot of gay people who call going to the club, going to church ... so, that's what we're doing every Sunday. We're having our own church.”

Alistair McQueen
Stage Name: Smokin' McQueen
Production Company: Smoke This Productions
Favorite Zombie Movie: Dawn of the Dead ('78)

News + Taste + Music + Screen + Arts + Events + Classifieds